Croco Doc puts some drops in his ear that will help with the infection. Conny will have to use the ear drops every day until the infection gets better.

He isn't allowed to swim for a few days, so his siblings decide to keep him company out of the pool.

They are so nice!

A few days later, they return to the hospital for Croco Doc to examine Conny's ear.

It has already healed!

A week later, Croco Doc and Hippo Crat go to the pool and run into Conny.

At first he doesn't seem to hear ear infection... It's because he's wearing earplugs!

He's wearing them so that water doesn't get into his ears!

Croco Doc warns Conny that he shouldn't use cotton swabs to remove ear wax because they can hurt his ears.
