Cut through the black line

Bruno the horse and Danny the bull are playing a video game.

Bruno seems a bit distracted and is losing.

He can't stop scratching his head!

He has an itch on his head, that no matter how much he scratches, won't go away!

Bruno's mom checks his head to see if she can find the problem.

She doesn't see anything, but just in case, she decides to take him to the clinic to see Croco Doc.

They see Jinx the elephant in the waiting room. He hasn't stopped laughing for three days!

Even the boring book he's reading can't make him stop!

Now they can clearly see that Bruno has lice!
They can see the lice and their eggs in his hair.

Croco Doc gives Bruno's mother a magnifying glass so that she can see what is in her sons hair.

The lice are making Bruno's head itch.

Lice are very contagious, so he will have to be very careful not to give them to anyone else.

8

Croco Doc gives Bruno's mother a special shampoo and a fine-tooth comb to use at home to get rid of the lice.

9

He then explains that the shampoo has special ingredients that kill lice.

The comb is finer than normal so that it can remove nits from the hair.

10

After using the special shampoo,
all of the lice are gone.

To celebrate his victory, Bruno gives Croco Doc a drawing that he made for him!

Nits are the eggs that lice lay.

Each louse can lay more than 300 eggs every day!

Luckily, it looks like Bruno didn't give anyone else...or so it seems, until his dad comes home from work scratching his head nonstop!
