

32. Breathless Pneumonia

Rino is a bit sad because he's not feeling well; he can't play basketball!

If he doesn't recover soon, he'll miss the final.

2

In the hospital, Croco Doc checks his temperature:

Rino has a slight fever, along with a cough, runny nose, and chest pain.

3

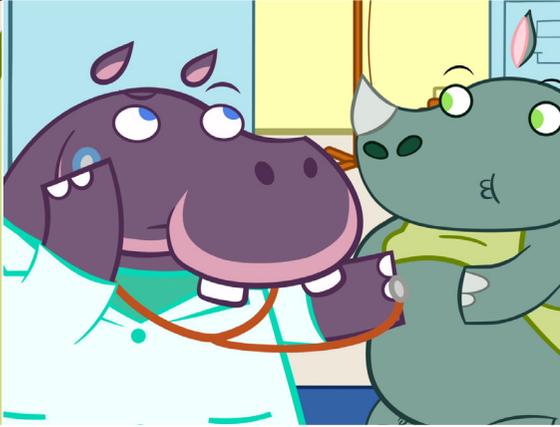

Cut through the black line

With the oximeter, Croco Doc can see that Rino's blood oxygen levels are a bit low.

4

Using the stethoscope, Hippo Crat can hear crackling sounds in Rino's lungs, like crumpling paper. They're called crackles and indicate pneumonia.

5

Indeed, it's pneumonia!

To confirm Croco Doc's suspicions, Rino undergoes an ultrasound...

7

9

Scan to learn the process!

GLUE

CROCO DOC

crocodoc.tv

Get the full collection of Croco Books on our website!

www.crocodoc.tv

Thanks to him, he'll recover and be back on the court very soon!

After a total victory, Rino goes back to see Croco Doc to dedicate the cup to him.

Pneumonia is a lung infection, and an antibiotic can eliminate the bacteria causing it.

It's crucial to dress warmly to prevent pneumonia, especially in cold and wet conditions!

Fortunately, pneumonia won't stop Crat from playing his favorite sport...

Video games!

On the day of the match, Rino still can't play, but Mr. Bull gives him something even more important...

The assistant coach's headband!